terms range from 30 days to 60 months, but you could find terms as long as 10 or 20 years. Banks create money when they lend the rest of the money depositors give them. Here¢ÃÂÂs another thing the banks aren¢ÃÂÂt happy about: The CFPB is now posting a ¢ÃÂÂWall of Shame¢ÃÂÂ of sorts that documents consumer complaints so you can get a sense for the narrative of how the banks and other financial institutions are allegedly doing people wrong. That monetary policy is key to economic growth but must be carefully worked out. Banks can also assist students with financing their college degrees in order to attain their desired careers.Reasons Why We Need Banks Photo Courtesy: Hiya Images/Corbis/Getty Images There are several reasons why we need banks in today¢ÃÂÂs society. With various accounts offered, they provide a place to conduct regular banking transactions including deposits, withdrawals, and bill payments. Particularly on a local level, banks are helping to fund the communities where their customers live and work. These fees could include account fees (monthly maintenance charges, minimum balance fees, overdraft or non-sufficient fund fees), safe deposit box fees, and late fees. Retail banks, which can be physical or strictly online these days, are what most individual consumers are used to working with. This is huge news. As already discussed, banks help to keep money safe for customers. If they think they¢ÃÂÂve solved it, the bank will tell the CFPB, acknowledging that it¢ÃÂÂs been taking care of. They typically do this by charging more interest on loans and other debt than what they pay to those who have savings accounts.
